

This movie is based on some real events, public records, factual information, and some interpreted events up to and including the year 2026. Some of the events, characters, dialogue, and circumstances depicted are fictionalized and represent the creators' imaginative interpretation. None of the events depicted represent criminal activity by any of the characters depicted, unless specifically stated within the movie.

Whilst this movie depicts some real life events and characters, a number of scenes (including those representing events post-2026) have been fictionalised for dramatic effect. As a result, they should not be taken as a true representation of real life events or any indication that the characters involved may in due course either act in such a way or be capable of acting in such a way.
